Who we are?

The Fundación Fraunhofer Spain Research (Fraunhofer Spain) is a non-profit private Spanish Foundation, established in Barcelona in 2025 as an affiliate of Fraunhofer-Gesellschaft, Europe's leading organization for applied research (<https://www.fraunhofer.es/>).

Our mission is to conduct independent research activities, including training, knowledge dissemination, and technology transfer. These activities range from basic research to prototype development and small-scale production, strengthening the internationalization of applied research and connecting academia with productive sectors.

Fraunhofer Spain Research has launched its first program in applied bioengineering for health: the Fraunhofer Center of Applied Theragnostics (Fraunhofer CAT). This initiative is dedicated to developing innovative diagnostic, prognostic, and therapeutic tools within the field of precision medicine. The program aims to generate significant academic, industrial, and healthcare impact, ultimately contributing to societal well-being.

Fraunhofer Spain was founded by Fraunhofer-Gesellschaft, the largest organisation for applied research in Europe with the economic support of the Spanish Government (Ministerio de Ciencia, Innovación y Universidades), the Barcelona City Council (Ajuntament de Barcelona), and the Catalan Government (Generalitat de Catalunya), as well as the academic collaboration of Barcelona University, the Institute for Bioengineering of Catalonia (IBEC) and Fraunhofer Institute for Biomedical Engineering (Fraunhofer IBMT).
